The pioneering spirit of being open-minded and daring to be the first is the first core of the spirit of the Red Boat. Putting the spirit of initiative first, emphasizing the ambition and responsibility of the Communists, revealing the initial heart and mission of the Communists. Marxism is a banner that has gathered a group of early Marxists in China. They put together the great mission of saving the nation, revitalizing the nation and criticizing the old world, creating a new world, pursuing the light in the dark, searching for hope in the distress, and ignoring the hope in this country. In the historical context of saving the country, in 1921, the Chinese Communist Party came into being. Health. The birth of the Communist Party of China brought hope to the Chinese people in deep waters. It is this pioneering spirit that dares to be the first to let the Chinese Communist Party lead the Chinese people to successfully defeat imperialism and jointly establish a new China.

Nowadays, China has become a big country in the world, but the pioneering spirit of the Chinese Communists to open up the world and dare to be the first is never lost. Nowadays, socialism with Chinese characteristics has entered a new era, and the main contradiction of our country has also turned into a contradiction between the people's growing need for a better life and the development of inadequate and unbalanced development. The pioneering spirit of the Chinese Communists, who pioneered and dared to lead the people, will lead China to prosperity and lead the Chinese people to live a happy life.

1.2. Firming the Ideal and Fighting the Spirit of Perseverance

Judging from the entire development process of the Communist Party of China, the history of the development of the Communist Party of China is a history of hard struggle by the Chinese Communist Party and a history of hard struggle for all people. The spirit of firmness and perseverance is the innate spiritual quality of the Chinese Communist Party. She must realize her political ideals and the dream of national destiny in a real and dangerous environment, and she is destined not to be afraid of danger.

Since its establishment, the Communist Party of China has been shouldering the historical responsibility of the development of the motherland and the national rejuvenation. After the Third Plenary Session of the 11th Central Committee, China began to emphasize economic construction as the center and implement reform and opening up. Nowadays, under the leadership of the party, the country has developed rapidly and entered the fast lane of economic, technological, ecological and people's livelihood. In this great new era, in order to achieve high-speed development while achieving high-speed development, we must clearly adhere to the spirit of struggle and firmness and perseverance. The history of the Communist Party of China is a history of struggles that have been painstakingly carried out by thousands of Communist Party members. In terms of people's livelihood construction, China has a large population base and a large number of poor people, but China's poverty alleviation is ahead of the world. "A hoe is squatting on the shoulders, and the spirit is tempered by the mud. I hope that the celestial beings will be warm and full of hardships." In accordance with local conditions, precise poverty alleviation, rural revitalization, and different poverty alleviation strategies in different periods, we will jointly build a grand blueprint for China to achieve a comprehensive entry into a well-off society in 2020. Firm ideals and perseverance constitute the lofty moral realm pursuit and practical requirements of the communists' unity of knowledge and action. In the new era, we must still be firm and unyielding. Today, we are closer, more confident and capable of achieving the goal of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation than at any time in history. We should continue to write about China's glory with hard work and hold up our Chinese dreams with practical efforts. We will certainly be able to run the historical relay. This greatness in the game ushered in the magnificent dawn of national rejuvenation.

1.3. Dedication to Build the Party for the Public and Loyal to The People

Dedication is the purpose of the spirit of initiative and struggle. It reflects the purpose and moral pursuit of the Communists and is the foothold of the Communist Party's initial heart and mission. General Secretary Xi Jinping repeatedly emphasized and repeatedly summarized the "Jiao Yulu spirit", which is a model of "building the party for the public and governing for the people". The dedication of building the party for the public and loyalty to the people is the lofty quality that the Communists forged in the long-term revolutionary practice. It is the noblest wealth left by countless revolutionary martyrs. The Communist Party of China is the political party of the Chinese people. The position of the people is the position of the Communist Party of China. The Chinese Communist Party represents the interests and needs of the people. Serving the people is the initial heart of the Chinese Communist Party. The nature, purpose and mission of the party have determined that the Communists will use selfless dedication as a code of conduct whenever and wherever they are. In the new era, it is still necessary to establish the party for the public and loyal to the people. It is precisely because the Chinese Communists have the spirit of selfless dedication that they can do everything with the overall interests, give priority to the interests of the entire Chinese people, and give up personal interests for the future development of China and the happiness of the people. In the cause of socialist construction, countless outstanding Communists have a great feeling of selfless dedication to the cause of the party and the people, and a lofty spirit of life for the party and the people. The dedication of the Communist Party of China today and the red ship have a high degree of historical coherence and consistency with the times. It is the "red ship spirit" that inspires our party to courageously contribute, courageously devotion, and courageously contribute its lifelong strength to the revolutionary cause. Unyielding, constantly winning one victory after another in revolution and construction.

2. Look at the Attitude of Contemporary College Students Towards Ideological and Political Education Through the "Red Boat Spirit"

2.1. Generally Attach Importance to the Role of Ideals and Beliefs

Today, the state attaches great importance to the ideological and political education of contemporary college students. In the ideological and political education of colleges and universities, contemporary college students do not fully understand the "red boat spirit." However, the "red boat spirit" as a valuable spiritual wealth proposed by General Secretary Xi Jinping is a lifelong experience for contemporary college students. "Red Boat Spirit" can serve as the spiritual pillar of contemporary college students' ideological and political education, and guide contemporary college students to constantly develop and innovate, unremitting struggle and selfless dedication. Such a positive "red boat spirit" represents the high morale and hard work of contemporary college students. It is the inexhaustible spiritual motivation of contemporary college students and the guiding direction of contemporary college students' ideological and political education. It is such an ideal and belief that can shape the outlook, values and worldview of contemporary college students.

2.2. Learning Initiative Is Poor, Learning Passive

With the changes in the content and form of school education, social education, and family education, contemporary college students are more inclined to practice learning in their studies, neglecting some theoretical studies, and even think that theoretical learning is not important. This change of thinking makes contemporary college students lack initiative in theoretical study in ideological and political education. Some contemporary college students only rely on school education for the "red boat spirit" learning initiative. They believe that schools require learning to go to school, and do not require it. Learning, a part of theoretical learning with a passive learning attitude, poor learning, has a negative impact on students' systematic learning.

3. The Inspiration of "Red Boat Spirit" to Contemporary College Students' Ideological and Political Education

3.1. Attaching Importance to the Combination of Ideal And Belief Education and Situational Policies

The "red boat spirit" is a systematic exposition of the Communist Party of China's spirit of party building. It is also a concrete requirement of contemporary society for contemporary people. It is the product of the interaction between history and modernity, and the combination of historical ideals and beliefs and contemporary social development. The Communist Party of China regards Marxism as its own ideal, adheres to its initial heart, and constantly enriches Marx's attention to connotation in the path of China's development, making it a Chinese-style Marxism that suits Chinese characteristics and conforms to China's national conditions. Adhere to the path of socialism with Chinese characteristics, combine the theory of socialism with Chinese characteristics with Marxism, and form Mao Zedong Thought, Deng Xiaoping Theory, the important thinking of the "Three Represents", the scientific development concept, and the socialist ideology with Chinese characteristics in the new era. The theoretical results guide the entire party and the people to make the right choices in important historical periods. Upholding the party's basic line is unshakable and is an important prerequisite for us to achieve a series of great victories such as reform and opening up. Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, under the leadership of the party, the party and the people have persisted in the party's basic line and have achieved countless brilliant achievements in the decades. The situation policy provides a clear direction for ideological and political education, points out the road, and makes ideological and political education have a distinct era color in both form and content, and has an extremely important influence in the process of ideological and political education. Therefore, for contemporary college students, the education of ideals and beliefs must be combined with the situation and policy, and the ideological and political education must reflect the changes of the times and the requirements of the times. After the successful convening of the 19th National People's Congress of the Communist Party of China, the main contradictions in our society have changed. When the key to success is put forward, ideological and political education should extract the essence from the report of the 19th National Congress. The great banner of socialism with Chinese characteristics is striving for the Chinese dream of realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.

3.2. The Ideological and Political Education of College Students Should Be Carried Out in Time and Fully Popularized

The "red boat spirit" condenses the party's initial heart and value pursuit, plays an important role in the spirit of the light, is a powerful spiritual pillar of our party's wave and brave advancement in the new era, and contains rich values of the times, which should be carried out in colleges and universities. Fully popularized. Carrying out the "red boat spirit" education in colleges and universities and integrating it into the ideological and political education of college students is the need to respond to the question of the work of Li Deshu people in colleges and universities. It is an effective key to justify the dilemma of college moral education in the new era, and it is also the moral education of colleges and universities. The implementation of the work is a reliable and effective way. Therefore, it is necessary to combine the general spirit of General Secretary Xi Jinping in the national ideological and political education work conference to better integrate the "red boat spirit" into the ideological and political education of college students. Colleges and universities should guide students to proceed from realistic activities, adopt sensible and practical ways to experience entrepreneurial activities such as innovation and entrepreneurship, and establish lofty ideals and life goals while realizing the true meaning of life, so as to form a correct concept of employment, entrepreneurship, and values. And outlook on life. Opening the attention of college students to party history, national history and traditional classic culture with the "red boat spirit" is a model innovation in the implementation of college students' ideological and political life moral education, and also provides a new paradigm for other excellent cultural communication in China. Not only the "red boat spirit", but also the spiritual wealth such as "Jinggangshan Spirit" and "Yan'an Spirit" should be more popular among colleges and universities to make it run through the whole process of contemporary college students' ideological and political education.
