1. Introduction

Facts have proved that the individual and the motherland are inseparable and are a close unity. Every individual must closely integrate his own destiny into the country's destiny, constantly and diligently improve and develop himself, grow into talents, and work harder. Put yourself into the practice of defending the motherland, building the motherland, and loving the motherland carefully and seriously. Countless individuals form the motherland, and countless individuals are loving, defending, and building the motherland. Every individual cannot leave the motherland. Only in the embrace of the motherland can every individual grow into a talent and realize the value of life. Our country and nation has a fine tradition of loving the motherland since ancient times. It is precisely because generations of Chinese people have continuously put their strong patriotic sentiments into practice, the Chinese nation can overcome difficulties and setbacks in the long and long years and continue to Create brilliant and great results and move forward with great pride. In the long-term practice, our country has formed and developed a national spirit with patriotism as the core, which is the great spiritual backbone that supports our nation. Love for the motherland is manifested in many aspects, and the attention and concern for all aspects of the motherland is one of the important manifestations. The people of our country have been eagerly and enthusiastically concerned about the motherland's major and minor affairs since ancient times. All aspects have formed a fine and long history. The tradition of China gave birth and development of related cultures, such as "wind, rain, reading, sound in your ears, family affairs, national affairs, world affairs, and everything concerned" is a typical representative of it. From ancient times to the present, patriotic intellectuals have been outstanding representatives of our country people's group. This group always pays close attention to and cares about the future and destiny of the country and the nation, has made great contributions to the country and the nation, and passed on from generation to generation. Contemporary college students are outstanding representatives of our country's intellectuals and the masses of people. This group has strong patriotism and is working hard to put it into practice, making great contributions to the country, and will continue to do so. College students are an outstanding group among the people and are of great significance to the country and nation. Therefore, we must attach great importance to the growth and success of college students, actively pay attention to and strengthen the implementation of the education work of college students, and educate college students to study hard and use scientific and cultural knowledge to establish, Persevere and practice all kinds of good quality. It is necessary to strengthen the patriotism education of college students, and educate them to establish, adhere to, and practice the spirit of patriotism, and serve the motherland in a down-to-earth and real manner. Patriotism must be ardently concerned about the major and minor matters of the motherland. In all aspects, the situation and policy education for college students can help college students to have a deep understanding of the party and the country's major policies and policies, as well as the domestic and foreign situation, and so on, so as to better establish patriotism and carry out patriotism. practice.

Efforts must be made to do a good job in the education of the situation and policy of college students, because the situation and policy education in colleges and universities is of great significance, and it goes without saying. [1] The important foundation and principle of doing this work well is to keep pace with the times and innovate continuously. Constantly strive to achieve better educational results. Therefore, it is necessary to carefully study the innovation of college students' situation and policy education, so that this education can closely follow the development of the times, adapt to the needs of the new situation, achieve better results, give full play to its significance, and promote the development of universities, which is beneficial to National construction and development.

The main, important objects and participants of the educational work of colleges and universities are the majority of college students. Its important goal is to enable college students, the outstanding representatives of this society, to better acquire knowledge and skills, improve their ideological and moral qualities, and ultimately realize the value of life and become a counterpoint to the country. Useful talent in society. Therefore, the importance of college education is self-evident, and it must be highly valued and actively implemented. This is an overall grand task that needs to do a good job in all aspects. Everyone involved must deeply understand this. The great significance of this cause, and actively put into action. The situation and policy education of college students is an important part of the educational work of colleges and universities, and it is of great significance to the growth of college students. As the main, important object and participant of the educational work of colleges and universities, it is necessary to pay enough attention to the situation and policy education of colleges and universities and the overall education of colleges and universities, and actively participate in it. With the development of the times, education is also developing and progressing. The transition to quality education with students as the main body is the general trend. Therefore, we must attach great importance to and actively play the role of students in education. Only when students truly attach great importance to the education of the situation and policies and deeply understand its significance, can this educational work be better carried out and developed, such as its innovative work. There are two main ways to raise awareness. The first is self-improvement, and the second is improvement under the guidance of education. College students must have the awareness and ability of self-education. For example, in the education of the situation and policies, they must pay attention to self-education to improve their correct understanding of this education and its development and innovation, so that they can be well invested in it. At the same time, college students should be good at humbly accepting the teachings of others, such as raising a correct understanding of this education and its development and innovation under the teacher's education.

2.1.2. Educational Innovation on the Situation and Policies of College Students Must Strengthen the Construction of the Teaching Team

As the implementer of classroom teaching, teachers are the weather vane in teaching activities. Their words and deeds directly affect students' acceptance and understanding of subject content. [2] By participating in the education of the situation and policies of college students, whether they are educators, educators or Education administrators, under careful observation, can find that teachers play an active and important role in this education, such as increasing the attractiveness of this education and inspiring college students to have a strong interest in this education. This education is of great significance. In the long development years of education, teachers have an irreplaceable and important role. This positive role is lasting, has strong vitality, and will continue to move forward. With the development of the times, education must also develop actively. For example, the situation and policy education of college students must keep up with the progress of the times, and must not be left behind. This is to strengthen the innovation of this education. This is an important task and puts high demands on the personnel in the education work. Teachers are education. The important group in the work must strengthen the construction of this group, so that it can correctly realize the importance of college students' situation, policy education and even the entire education innovation, and actively implement it.

2.2. The Situation and Policy Education Innovation of College Students Must Pay Attention to Classroom Education and Extracurricular Education

2.2.1. The Situation and Policy Education Innovation of College Students Must Pay Attention to Classroom Education

As we all know, the classroom is an important place for students to receive education, has an important position in the education work, and has played an active and important role. The times are constantly developing and progressing, which continuously puts forward higher and better requirements on education. Educational reform and innovation are the general trend. With the development of the times, simple classroom education has highlighted some shortcomings that cannot fully meet the needs of the times. It needs improvement and innovation, and actively develop and strengthen other educational channels, such as online education and practical education. However, innovation and development and inheriting tradition should be integrated and inseparable. The classroom has made positive contributions to education during the long years of education, and it has huge advantages in itself. Therefore, in the process of developing and innovating education, it is necessary to inherit the traditional advantages of classroom education, and at the same time, make up for and improve the pure classroom education. For some shortcomings and shortcomings, the advantages of classroom education should be continuously adapted to the trends and requirements of the development of the times, and continuous innovation and development should be made to promote the continuous achievement of better results in education. Specific to the situation, policy education and innovation of college students, we must attach great importance to the classroom education platform, not only to give full play to the traditional advantages of classroom education, but also to pioneer and innovate. Take innovative classroom education methods as an example. Through careful observation, many innovative measures have been taken. Proposal and implementation, for example, classroom discussions, classroom debates, group activities, encouraging students to teach on stage, etc., have achieved very good results. Innovation must be continuously deepened. Classroom education is an important way for college students' situation and policy education, and innovation must be continuously made.

2.2.2. The Situation and Policy Education Innovation of College Students Must Attach Importance to Extracurricular Education

With the reform and innovation of educational work, extracurricular education has received more and more attention, its importance has been recognized more and more, and its implementation has been continuously strengthened, and good results have been achieved. For college students' situational policy education, not only must classroom education be done well, but also a broader extracurricular approach can be achieved in order to achieve better educational results. College students "not only grasp the content of the situation and policies in class, but also care about the international and domestic situation through various possible channels after class, and combine the in-class with the extra-curricular." [3] Extracurricular education is very important. The broad platform must be continuously explored and innovated to promote the development of education. Through observation, it can be found that situational policy education teachers often require students to pay attention to current affairs outside of class and then discuss them in class. This allows students to develop the habit of paying attention to current affairs, and at the same time, it can be a good link between classroom and extracurricular. . In addition, it is necessary to more actively use and innovate many educational channels, such as seminars, lectures, extracurricular interactions between teachers and students, extracurricular exchanges between students, campus activities, and off-campus practice, and many other active and effective ways and platforms to better We will do a good job of education on the situation and policies of college students.

2.3. The Situation and Policy Education Innovation of College Students Must Pay Attention to the Role of the Network

As we all know, the Internet is a great new thing produced by the development of the times. It has strong vitality. Its huge role and positive significance have penetrated into all aspects of human society. It has long become an indispensable and important tool for people. Through the Internet, you can feel the times. Great trend of development. The network itself is the product of human development and innovation, and it is also an important tool for innovation. The spirit of innovation can be felt through the network. The huge advantages and positive significance of the Internet have been universally recognized and welcomed by people. More and more people use the Internet more actively and deeply, which has effectively promoted the progress of life, study and work. Especially young students, a vigorous group, the Internet has benefited this group a lot, and the majority of students have personally felt the positive significance of the Internet for their growth and development. For example, the educational functions and advantages of the Internet have strongly promoted the entire education. The development and progress of work, therefore, education work must use the network more actively and deeply, give full play to its advantages, and promote the continuous development of education work. Specific to the situation and policy education and innovation of college students, it is necessary to make full use of the Internet. For example, it is possible to "create a situation and policy special education website.[4] College students should learn current affairs in a timely manner. The advantages of the Internet can be fast, convenient and timely. Let college students better understand current affairs.

3. Analysis on the Innovation of the Educational Content of the Situation Policy for College Students

3.1. Pay Attention to the Interests of College Students

College students are the objects of university education, and to a large extent it is related to the effectiveness of education. Therefore, to do a good job in university education, we must attach great importance to studying students. Enhancing students' interest is an important aspect of doing a good job in education.
